What happens when you break the rules? Kelsey Gene Blackwell and her classmates in advanced placement English have all agreed: Until Mrs. Delaney starts to teach again, they're going to do nothing—no homework, no tests, absolutely nothing. But bucking the system is a lot harder than they imagined. What starts out as a simple sit-in designed to last one period soon becomes a disaster that threatens Kelsey's academic future as well as her relationships with family and friends. Worst of all, Kelsey learns that one very important fact lies beneath her teacher's actions, something none of them could have foreseen.
