

The Works of John Adams, Vol. 4: Second President of the United States; With a Life of the Author, Notes and Illustrations (Classic Reprint)

Excerpt from The Works of John Adams, Vol. 4: Second President of the United States; With a Life of the Author, Notes and Illustrations

The occasion of the production of the series of papers signed Novanglus, in the Boston Gazette of 1774, is given in the Diary of the author. A writer for the government, under the signature of Massachusetts, supposed by Mr. Adams to be Jonathan Sewall, but who is now understood to have been Daniel Leonard, had made some impression upon public opinion in Massachusetts. His articles, first printed in the Massachusetts Gazette and Post-Boy, immediately attracted much public attention, and called out many replies. They were forthwith collected and printed in a pamphlet form in Boston; republished by James Rivington, in New York, in the same year, under the title of The Origin of the American Contest with Great Britain, or the present Political State of the Massachusetts Bay in general, and the town of Boston in particular; exhibiting the Rise and Progress of the disordered State of that Country, in a series of weekly Essays, published at Boston, under the signature of Massachusetts, a Native of New England; and still another edition was issued in Boston, by J. Mathews, probably during the siege of that place, in the next year, 1776. The papers of Novanglus, in reply to Massachusetts, were reprinted in Almons Remembrancer for 1775, in an abridged form, and bearing the following title: History of the Dispute with America, from its Origin, in 1754, to the present Time. This was reprinted in pamphlet form, in London, by John Stockdale, in 1784, with the name of the author. Previous to this time, a Dutch translation had been made in Holland, apparently for the purpose of extending information respecting the struggle, and inspiring confidence in the author, when he was soliciting an alliance for the United States with that country; and it was published at Amsterdam, by W.Holtrop, 1782, with a portrait Last of all, the papers of Novanglus and Massachusettensis, in their original form, were collected in one volume, in 1819, and printed by Hews and Goss, in Boston, to which was prefixed the preface which immediately follows.About the PublisherForgotten Books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books.
